I have been dedicated to the field of architectural acoustics for over 25 years, where my experience has revealed that there is always a need to satisfy valuable clients with quality products and services. My travels take me far and wide and into the most exotic of acoustical engineering requirements. I have found that over these many years not only do you understand the complexity of acoustical curtain materials, but you have taken the painstaking diligence to test your products and correctly apply their physical properties to your remarkable sound blocking and sound curtain product line. I truly feel that this effort, on your behalf, has made my job easier by allowing me the opportunity to peruse your ever-growing product line for satisfying a variety of my client's particular needs.
